

Living With...

This is a brand new concept for Road-Tests.com where we live with a car for around 10 – 12 weeks.

During that time we'll run a blog about the car, what happens, how it performed and the things that drove us mad – and the things we found we couldn't do without!

Updated on a weekly basis the "Living with..." blogs are aimed to help you make a car choice – not necessarily about the car we're living with, but about cars in general.

Living With....starts at the end of November 2008 with Toyota's Diesel Corolla.
